Hygiene and infection protection for office workers - Online Training

Your Training at
TÜV SÜD Akademie

Course Description

We are currently all in the grip of the coronavirus pandemic. Due to the major changes and disruptions this has caused for professional life, employers need to inform their employees of the new dangers and measures by means of a training course. The purpose of this course is to explain the importance of the precautions that have been laid out for all employees.

Course Objective

- Basic requirements for employees
- Paths of infection and the coronavirus
- Behavior rules for infection prevention

Course contents

- Hygiene and infection protection for employees
- Basic duties of employees
- Paths of infection and the corona virus
- Behavioural rules for infection prevention
- Additional information on organizational measures
- Contacts within the company

Requirements

Within companies, detailed measures for compliance with hygiene requirements are implemented and adjusted to meet changes such as the coronavirus pandemic – with the support of experts such as company doctors and occupational health and safety specialists.

Good cooperation between employers, employees and their representatives ensures that hygiene requirements can be met, helping to improve the health of each individual. This can benefit every employee and their families. Good health is an extremely important asset, as anyone who has been seriously ill can attest!

Methodology

We will introduce you to four knowledge areas, which you will all need to work through. Each individual topic area include a range of information regarding the virus and behaviour rules for hygiene.

After you have worked through the topic areas, there will be a quiz with ten questions, and you will need to get at least 80% of them right.

Certificate

Once you have successfully completed the quiz, you will receive a certificate from the TÜV Süd Academy.
