ISO 22000:2018 Food Safety Management System Awareness E-Learning

Course Description

Major changes and developments have been made in the 2018 version of the ISO 22000 Food Safety Management System. Find out how these new changes will affect your organisation and explore how you can adapt to the updated standard.

Introducing ISO 22000:2018 Food Safety Management System (FSMS) Awareness Course.

With this course, you will gain knowledge in setting up a FSMS—from understanding the purpose and benefits of FSMS, to learning how to apply the ISO 22000:2018 requirements in your organisation to help you gain trust of stakeholders (regulators, primary producers, food manufacturers and packers, retailers and consumers) by demonstrating your ability to control food safety hazards and ensuring that the food is safe for human consumption.

This e-learning course is especially designed for on-the-go learners like you—providing you the convenience of self-paced learning, while allowing you to boost your competency and add value to your career.
